Wallace Asked For Opinion on Increased Farm Outlay

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—Senator Wallace today asked for the opinion of the administration on a proposed $400,000,000 increase in government outlay for the farm.

Wallace and other administration farm executives were the first to hear the testimony of a committee on the farm bill. The committee is headed by Wallace and includes other farm leaders.

The measure, as approved by the house, provided for expenditure of $400,000,000, but a group of senators representing nearly all agricultural interests wants to increase this to $1,250,000,000.

Senator Latta (D-Ill.), a leader in the new farm-bill-drafting bloc, was trying to muster support for the increase today at a conference of senators from 16 northern and western states.

Southern senators have offered an amendment to the bill for a $500,000,000 increase in farm benefit payments. These would be in addition to the $500,000,000 approved by the house for cotton, corn, wheat, soybeans and rice growers under the administration's crop control program.

Northern senators offered a similar amendment for a $1,000,000,000 increase in the crop surplus distribution fund. This would be in addition to the $1,000,000,000 already appropriated for the fund.

By purchases of surplus butter, fruits and meats for relief distribution, the government has been able to maintain prices for these products.

Republican Leader McNary indicated his senate floor would support a $300,000,000 increase in farm funds, with $150,000,000 for parity payments and $150,000,000 for surplus programs.

Economy-minded senators agree that the northern and southern farm groups' ministerial voting strength, there will be little chance of blocking the increase.

Both Japanese and Chinese Victorious

Shanghai, April 10.—(AP)—Strategic victories were claimed by both Chinese and Japanese today after heavy fighting in Kiangsi province, southern China.

The Chinese reported they had captured 70 miles northwest of Nanchang, the provincial capital, and by counter-attacks along the Nanchang-Changsha highway, had recaptured Kiam, which the invaders occupied a week ago at great cost.

The Japanese attempted to follow up the recent capture of Nanchang with a thrust toward Changsha, Hunan provincial capital, in order to open the way to possible invasion of the southwest.

The invaders said that one step of this plan was achieved when their forces south of Nanchang surrounded several Chinese detachments. Seven hundred Chinese were reported slain.

Throughout western Illinois province, the Japanese said, the invaders won numerous isolated victories.

3 Holdup Killers Face Long Terms

Harrisburg, Ill., April 10.—(AP)—Convicted killers of three young women were sentenced today to long terms in the state penitentiary.

The three—Charles Russell, 20, Carl Trail, 19, and William May, 21—were convicted Saturday night by a jury which heard their purported confessions read into evidence.

In its verdict, the jury ruled out "mental incompetency" defense testimony given for Russell.

Santa Burns, widow of the victim, testified that she saw the three men in the car on the night of the slaying.

The three were arrested Saturday night by a patrolman who reported confessions read into evidence.

Trying to Gang Up on Me Huh?

EUROPE

OURS FOR THE ASKING

"A calendar of 1000 events in Europe, in booklet form is yours for the asking," announces a travel prospectus.

Yes, a thousand events, yours for the asking.

See the 400,000 Spanish refugees huddled in a corner of La Belle France, starving and miserable!

See the rebuilding of what used to be historic and beautiful Spain, and the establishment on its ruins of the world's newest authoritarian state.

See historic old Czechoslovakia, and the terrorized Czechs clanking in agony at its iron gates, seeking the smallest chance to escape the German rule.

See historic Russia, but don't inquire what they did to people exactly like you in the recent days when they were building Social Utopia with a firing squad.

Ask on the sunny beach of the Adriatic. The alarm may come soon enough to enable you to scramble to the bomb-proof shelter in time.

See the concentration camps, and the panic look of a man who dares not answer a simple, civil question because he knows not who may be listening, what double-crossing spy his questioner may be!

See the little children, age 10, herded into ranks and shouting a shrill salute in their piping voices as the master begins the task of whipping them into cannon fodder.

See the gas masks hanging beside every fireplace, and hear the drone of planes overhead. It's exciting, for you never know what moment they may stop playing and begin in earnest that spectacular "blossoming" of bombs which so impressed the esthetic Bruno Mussolini.

See the suspicious customs officials, stopping you every 30 miles and rummaging through your baggage. Meet the police every time you raise your camera, and feel the fine contempt that will be felt for you so many places as to a "decadent" citizen of a free republic.

Who knows, you may be lucky enough to encounter the Greatest Show of All—the authentic Next World War, the Five-Ring Carnival of Carnage.

A mere thousand events in Europe this summer? Pshaw! A million!

American tourist will do well to plan his summer trip this year so as not to miss the ones that appeal to him the most.

THE MARKS OF TIME

Mr. Simon Longbottom, Ashgrove, Greengrave, Bradford, England has a chicken-run overlooked by the clock atop the parish church tower.

The other day, a British paper solemnly assures us, one of Mr. Longbottom's Rhode Island fowls as big as the one which was plainly visible the image of the clock face.

The hands, reports the unsmiling correspondent, point to ten minutes past the hour.

This tendency of hens to develop a photographic quality is dangerous, and one which science should halt before it goes too far. Imagine the embarrassment of a henhouse chief, who had already assumed the owner of "there isn't anybody here but just us chickens," if the next week were to appear in the next complete with a photographic portrait of the invader!

LARGE SCHOOLS GO IN FOR 'REAL' GRID BATTLES

New York, April 11—(P. A.)—Any lingering idea that football is a fall sport will be dispipated by a visit to any of the more advanced football founts. The big shoulder guys are at it hot and heavy and the atmosphere is the real M.

Practice games with other colleges have become a jocosely parodied part of the athletic program. Once coaches were expected to travel tickets to bring their unproductive intra-squad scrimmages. Nowadays it isn't surprising to see a team travel 200 miles or to lose a game to a team played below its respectable crowd, or to have a coach and all the fixing.

Game Becomes Complex

It's all very easy to explain. A coach says: "We have to do it. Most of the time it is so complex it can't be taught in a practice. Proper timing and play execution can't be perfected unless we have long spring drills and scrimmages under game conditions. Squads are so large it's more time to choose the players."

Coaches like to play outside opposition for three reasons: (1) It gives the squad the incentive,

On the reports of sports and athletics it can be announced that Duke, Clemson and Mississippi have been performing heroically in the south and Alabama is back by and tough.

Fordham, having accidents in scholarship or player nature, will be top in the east with Jim Egan, instock and Len Eshmont, two of the east's best halfbacks, ready, willing and able. Army, Cornell and Syracuse lose as minor powers.

Out, Cornell, Michigan and Miami

Louisville, Ky., April 11.—(AP)—

82-year old James G. Snyder asks is that he be released from a sanitarium in time to witness his 53rd Kentucky Derby this year.

"I'd hate like mischief to miss it," he said today.

Even if he is dismissed in time, Snyder, who has been a patient since he fractured an arm last October, fears he might have "only one arm" with which to "pull" in his choice for the May 6 classic—El Chico.

"And any race horse fan knows," he explained, "you've got to use both arms and then sometimes grip out there and push them (the horses) around too."

Snyder says he's been a horse

1878 when he saw the famous match between Molly McCarthy and Te Broeck at Churchill Downs. (Te Broeck won the $10,000, four-mile heat race.)

Proud of his record of picking winners—which he said included 27 derby champions—Snyder said of his derby choice this year:

"A lot of folks laughed when I

Finished out of the money? I suppose a lot more will laugh at El Chico, my selection for this year.

"But there is a stand-out, he is sired by John P. Grier, the only 3-year old to run within a head of the great Man O War.

"That means something to me. It should to other folks, too."
